Letters of the Rev. Samuel Rutherford Samuel Rutherford

The story of the life of Samuel Rutherford is so generally known, that, in a mere Preface like the present, the briefest reference to its leading facts must suffice. In the year 1600, he was born in the village of Nisbet, county of Roxburgh. He entered, as a student, the University of Edinburgh in 1617; took his degree of Master of Arts in 1621; was elected, because of his eminent abilities of mind and virtuous dispositions, Regent or Professor of Humanity in 1623; and settled as Pastor of the parish of Ayr, Stewartry of Kirkcudbright, in 1627. By his powerful, persuasive, heart-melting eloquence in the pulpit; by his assiduous attentions in visiting the sick, catechising the members of his flock, and instructing them from house to house, as well as by his zealous and unremitting labours in the surrounding districts, he soon came to be revered and beloved as a spiritual father, not only by his own parish but by the whole county of Galloway. But this happy and fruitful pastoral relationship was doomed to experience a violent rupture. (Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and don't occur in the book.)
