The Last Czar: Leadership Failure (Anatomy of Catastrophe Book 9) Bob Mayer

Quote: "I am not prepared to be a Czar. I never wanted to become one. I know nothing of the business of ruling." Nicholas II, last Czar of Russia.

Every man-made disaster and catastrophe has at least six Cascade Events leading up to the final event, the catastrophe according to the Rule of Seven.

This is a quick read of the Cascade Events that changed the course of modern history: The Russian Revolution. The man responsible was Nicholas II, the last Czar.

Bob examines the Rule of Seven, and how human error plays a role in many catastrophes. Nothing happens in isolation or as a result of a single event. Thus, by learning from history, we can gain insight into preventing a similar catastrophe in the future. Nicholas II admitted from the start that he was not ready to be Czar. Yet, he was forced to take the reins, leading Russia to defeat in the disastrous Russo-Japanese War, and then disaster in World War I. By the end, the Imperial Family was executed and the entire course of history changed for the world!

This is one of many catastrophes that Bob Mayer, former Green Beret, West Point Graduate and NY Times Bestselling Author, examines in his series of shorts: The Anatomy of a Catastrophe.
